MPWMD's Burkleo OKs Water That Does Not Exist

By Elizabeth Cowley

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) held its regular monthly meeting on June 17 at the Monterey City Council Chambers.

The MPWMD heard presentations from Protect Our Water Resources (POWR) and the Cal-Am Rate Payers Group supported by Fran Farina and Patricia Bernardi (see related article) both of which asked the MPWMD to impose a moratorium on new water connections to prepare the community for compliance with the State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB) order which requires Cal-Am to replace illegal water diversions from the Carmel River. Even though 67% of Cal-Am's water has been determined to be illegal by the SWRCB the MPWMD continues to issue new water permits. David Dilworth asked the board, "Who thinks we don't have a water shortage?" Director Haddad agreed that there is not a water shortage. Dilworth then asked, "Should we give away water even though we don't have any?" MPWMD Chair, Darlene Burkleo agreed that the MPWMD should continue to give away water even when there isn't any to give.

While the board agreed that there is a water shortage and that water should not be given away (with the exception of Haddad and Burkleo respectively) the board approved 4-3 to allocate 150 acre feet from the Carmel / Pebble Beach water reclamation plant; directors Ely, Ernst and Hughes dissenting. The reclamation plant treats waste water for use on Pebble Beach Golf Courses thus freeing up potable water for residential use. The plant went on line in September of 1994 and has not met initial expectations due to start up problems and the 1995 floods. While the plant is meeting most golf course irrigation needs, all reports indicate that the plant is not reclaiming enough water to free up 150 acre feet for new allocations but the board voted to

OBITUARIES

NEIL MARION JENSEN

Neil M. Jensen, 75, a retired vice principal, formerly of Carmel, died at the Hospice of the Central Coast on June 10, 1996 after a brief illness. He was surrounded by his family and friends at the time of his death.

Jensen was born in Corvallis, Oregon on May 19, 1921 and grew up in Southern California as the 2nd of 5 children. He graduated from Ocean-side High School in 1939 where he was a track star and quarterback for the football team. He continued his education at San Diego State until 1942 when he enlisted in the U.S. Navy where he served until 1946. After the war, he attended USC, graduating in 1949 with a Bachelor of Arts degree. He received his teaching credential from USC in 1950. In 1963, he earned his Masters degree from USC in Educational Administration. He married Maxine T. Craig in 1949. She died in 1987.

Jensen began his teaching career in Los Angeles, but in 1950 moved to Carmel, with his wife Maxine, where he taught at Sunset School for ten years. He was promoted to the position of Counselor at Carmel Middle School and later at Carmel High School. He became Vice Principal at CHS in 1967. He retired after 30 years of devoted service to his community. He helped many teenagers find their way as productive human beings in our society.

When Neil and Maxine retired in 1979, they purchased an old boarding house for gold miners in Jackson, California and converted it into a beautiful bed and breakfast inn. It was sold in 1995 and he purchased property in Weiser, Idaho.

When he discovered that he was terminally ill in 1995, he returned to Carmel Valley to stay with his daughter Carol, and be close to his family and friends.

Jensen is survived by 5 children: John C. Jensen of Weiser, Idaho, Carol Jensen Root of Carmel Valley, Noel Jensen of Sunland, Martha Kenny of Carmel and Mark Jensen of Pebble Beach, 8 grandchildren: Jenne and Mary Root of Carmel Valley, Paige, Turner and Sarah of Weiser, Idaho, Megan of Park City, Utah and Benjamin and Leah Meskin of Los Angeles; 2 sisters and a brother.

A celebration of Neil Jensen's life will be held on Sunday, June 23, 1996 at The Highlands Inn from 3 until 6 p.m. in the Surf Room. The Paul Mortuary is in charge of arrangements. Following cremation, his ashes will be scattered with his wife, Maxine.

The family suggests that any memorial contributions be sent to the Neil M. Jensen Scholarship Fund located at First National Bank, 26380 Carmel Rancho Lane, Carmel.

River Flood Task Force in conjunction with the Monterey County Board of Supervisors and the Monterey County Water Resources Agency.

Mr. Ward said Zone funded projects will include "major cleaning and clearing" of the Carmel River. The CVPOA voiced concern about the assessment formula which is by parcel, not acreage or linear foot of river-front property and Ward replied that there are problems with any formula but that the Carmel River Coalition thought a parcel assessment was the best compromise. Patricia Bernardi said she could not support an assessment system where a 900 acre parcel pays the same as a condominium.

Bernardi said there "is nothing you can do to prevent a flood" adding that the Mission Fields area has historically flooded and should never have been built. Ward agreed that Mission Fields could not be developed today but that since it is there now something needs to be done to prevent flooding. Bernardi responded that governmental agencies have determined that it is more cost effective to relocate people rather than to rebuild and attempt to prevent flooding. Eileen Crane-Franks said that she, living on a mountain in Cachagua, would receive no benefit from the district and that people who choose to live in the flood plane should accept the risk and mitigate that risk though flood insurance or other measures. Crane-Franks added that she had heard a lot of opposition from people who live along the river who do not want bulldozers in the river channel as former channelization projects have been blamed for exacerbating flooding.

The CVPOA was also concerned that a public vote would not be held to approve the Zone. The Board of

Now that the official Little League Season is over and Gary Pennington has proved he can break a jinx, declare your Independence! Come to the Carmel Valley Little League Park--Baseball in Paradise--for that all-American Fourth of July Barbecue on--guess when--Thursday, the Fourth of July. And when you arrive at the park, what will you find? Come in the morning, you will find a Single A game, then a Double A game. Once the dust has cleared, you can also find that not only will the snack bar be open all day, but starting about 11:30 the traditional barbecue will get into full and smoking swing.

As the day continues under the summer sun, look for more Carmel Valley baseball action: the CVLL 9-10 A All Stars team will battle it out with a Carmel 9-10 A All Stars Team, the two B level teams will go at each other as well, followed by a good dust-up between the CV and Carmel 11-12 All Stars.

If that's not enough of the American Pastime for you, you'll also find a softball game at Shakal Field, and, if rumor proves true, a chance to see a couple of Pony teams go at it. Those guys are big, strong, and fast, the up-coming princes of the continuing Carmel High dynasty.

Speaking of All Stars, our 9-10 team will open play in Toro or Continental on July 6, while the 11-12's will be at American or Hollister. Please forgive the lack of precision; we'll bring you up to date as quickly as possible.

Now while you're at the Park on the Fourth, don't forget that raffle--first place, trip to Hawaii--and many other fine opportunities to reach out for Lady Luck. We are sorry to disappoint you, but the rumor that a pair of undisciplined golden retrievers are to be auctioned off is apparently not true. We regret any inconvenience.

Let's dip back into that just-ended Official Season for just a moment and review the notes of that wonderful coach, John Catherwood, who has diligently made sure that his team received excellent publicity through this column. John has sent along these notes every week, and they are true treasures. Thanks, John, for the loving support you've given your team.

Herewith gems from John: For the week of 27 May: "Angelica Villareal, right field, got a good hit in a clinch.

"Courtney Passey, center field, consistently fields well and got a hit and got on base.

"Bert Ferrasci, left field, a two-bagger on a great hit.

"Sam Chapple, first base, made an honest home run on a long drive.

"Jamie Agostini, center field, got on base on a good hit.

"Liza Catherwood and Debbie Burks took over scoring and added nicknames to the batters, inspiring a six-run inning for the Toros. [Note: we know a certain Pony team, nameless, wearing Dodger blue, which could have used some of those runs last week.]

"Rhalan Gracie has made some outstanding plays in center field and has thrown well to first and home plate."

We'd be willing to bet that those Toros must be just about unstoppable with all that talent and support. Way to go!

And as if that all were not enough to warm the heart, let's take a look at John's gems from the week of June 3rd:

"Michael Catherwood made a great play at third, catching a fly ball and tagging the runner for the final out.

"Will Reese, playing left field, cut off numerous hits down the third base line, holding runners from advancing.

"Sam Smith played great catcher position, cutting off runners at home.

"Kyle Murchison made a great catch at second, throwing to first for the out.

"Casey Agran, back-up short stop, made a home run on overthrows, thus ending a dry spell in his batting."

We certainly hope to see these folks out on the field on the Fourth of July. What a treat!

And of course we look forward to seeing you all at the park. Please remember the courtesy of no smoking around the stands or dugouts, no hurrying in the parking lot, no golden retrievers, and no attempts to play the game for the kids. They do a superb job all by themselves, so let's make sure the final games of their season are as joyous and full of light as is our own Carmel Valley.

allocate the water anyway. The 150 acre feet will not go towards replacing Cal-Am's illegal Carmel River diversions but rather for new allocations.

Darby Furst, MPWMD General Manager, reported that Senate Bill 1951, proposed by Senator Henry Mello, has cleared the senate and will be heard by the Assembly Local Government Committee on July 3. As initially proposed, 1951 would have replaced the currently elected MPWMD Board with an appointed board composed of city mayors and two supervisors and would not require a public vote on water projects such as a dam or desalinization plant. The bill has been amended several times and currently maintains the elected MPWMD Board and would require the MPWMD to periodically report to the jurisdictions about MPWMD activities and requires that water supply planning is sufficient to satisfy the General Plans of the jurisdictions. Director Hughes and Karas assured the public that a public vote will still be required to approve a water project under Bill 1951 as currently amended.

During oral communications Sean Flavin and Deborah Nicholson asked the MPWMD to support an extension of the review period for the Fort Ord reuse documents; the current deadline is July 15. Ms. Nicholson said that a project of this size needs more time for consideration given that the Fort Ord redevelopment plan will need 18,000 acre feet of water, more water than is currently used in the MPWMD water resources system, and will add 72,000 residents raising the Peninsula population to 200,000.

Director Haddad reported on an opinion issued by the Attorney General regarding MPWMD compliance with the Brown Act. The Attorney General said that MPWMD sub-committee meetings are subject to notice and that a sub-committee with a quorum of MPWMD Directors is

Two Groups Want to Stop New Water Hook-Ups

By Elizabeth Cowley

On June 17 the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District (MPWMD) heard presentations from the Cal-Am Rate Payers Group (CARP) initiated by Fran Farina and Patricia Bernardi and Protect Our Water Resources (POWR). While the two groups differ in intent and approach they both advocate measures including a moratorium on new water connections to prepare the community for compliance with State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB) Order 95-10 which ruled that 10,730 acre feet of water has been illegally pumped from the Carmel River by Cal-Am and must be replaced.

POWR

POWR has been circulating an initiative petition and currently has over 3,000 signatures and it is confident that it will collect the 6,000 required by the August deadline but asked the board to voluntarily put it on the November ballot to save the additional $70,000 cost of a special election.

Co-Chair Janice O'Brien said that

POWR represents community consensus that the MPWMD is the best vehicle for community control of water, that the rejection of the New Los Padres Dam indicates community concern about the potential for unsustainable growth, that the existing population must be a priority and that no water project should go forward without a vote of the people.

POWR is asking the MPWMD to declare a water shortage in light of SWRCB Order 95-10 and not to issue new water permits until a water supply for the existing community can be assured. Specifically, the POWR initiative would prohibit the MPWMD from allocating new water or expanding the Cal-Am service area until Cal-Am's illegal diversions, 10,730 acre feet, have been replaced. The initiative would also prohibit the transfer of New Los Padres Dam permits without a vote. O'Brien said "The people have paid for those permits and if those permits were handed over to an agency that did not have to come to the public for approval, it would in effect be closing the public out of the final approval." The initiative also states that the MPWMD should receive voter approval before spending over $1 million on a project. O'Brien said the initiative directs the MPWMD to include ancillary costs, to include all infrastructure and environmental costs, when bringing a water project to the voters so "when we vote for a project, we know what we are voting for."

POWR Co-Chair Bud Nunn asked the MPWMD to put the initiative on the November ballot "in the interest of fairness, fiscal responsibility ... and out of respect to the principal of letting the voters decide."

Director Haddad said "I have mixed emotions, a lot like seeing Saddam Hussein drive over a cliff in my new car."

Director Sam Karas said "Other people have to get the proper number of signatures ... why should we make an exception to the rule? I would be willing to consider an agency who wanted us to put it on the ballot, but not POWR." Bud Nunn reminded Karas that, as POWR endorsers, the Monterey Chapter of the League of Women Voters, the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club, the Pacific Grove Residents Association and the Carmel Residents Association are asking the MPWMD to put the POWR initiative on the November ballot.

Several people spoke in support of putting the POWR initiative on the November ballot for reasons

Our America Works Well - Our Government Is Not A Democracy - Amen

Perhaps the most abused and misused word in the American language is democracy.

We drape ourselves in red, white and blue and speak of our nation as a democracy. Because America is not a democracy, the myth spirit of what we call a democracy often gets many Americans, our allies, and enemies confused.

We speak of one person, one vote; but that is really not how this nation was designed to work.

According to Webster, democracy is "a form of government, by the will of the majority of the people..."

Well ... that is not what we have in fact ... Hamilton, Jefferson, Franklin, Madison and their compatriots designed a government that only gives lip service to the will of the majority rule.

What they came up with is a fancy, half-English common law / half-American Indian council hybrid. The political scientists and historians call our government a "constitutional republic".

One person, one vote? No. We do not vote on issues or legislation. We elect a "representative" - councilman, senator, congressman, assemblyman, to vote for us. That makes us a republic, not a democracy.

One person, one vote does not even work for electing the president, where the decision is made, not by the majority of the voters, but by the Electoral College.

So the majority can favor green grass, but the representatives can decide in favor of brown grass and make brown grass the law.

The Constitution further subverts absolute democracy by granting people certain rights which a simple majority cannot take away. Well ... that means that even a super majority is daunted when their club votes to exclude Episcopalians or Lutherans.

To insure the integrity of the laws, many of which are designed to protect selected rights, property, and small minorities, we have an independent judiciary.

Seems as the only place where majority rule prevails is when we surrender our voting power to an elected representative.

Only in some Vermont townships is direct democracy actually practiced concerning local laws.

Democracy is a modern misnomer which seems to be loosely applied to any form of government where people get to vote and have some reasonable expectations that the results will reflect the ballots cast.

No, it is not a true democracy -- but, our constitutional Republic, as it hits 220 years, seems to be doing ok. For longevity we have a long way to go to catch up with the Egyptians, Chinese, Incas, or Romans. But, they didn't claim to be democracies.

WHAT'S NEXT? Mel Vercoe

A friend of mine, Joe Goforit, who lives on another planet, dropped by for a visit. I had told him, during a visit a few months ago, about some of our problems: wars, hunger, crime over-population, taxes, shortage of money for new jails, and how difficult it was to find candidates for our president job, on account of all of the candidates we'd seen so far were males who had very little experience with abortions, which is a very important issue in presidential elections in America.

Anyway, I asked him about crime on his planet. He said they didn't have any. That right after they heard about our Watergate problem they decided to stop crime before it could get started, so they built a great wall, something like the Great Wall of China, except that it was a closed circle, and electrified. At the very first sign of criminal behavior, robbing a bank, stealing a rattle,

LETTERS to the Editor

Taxpayer's Association Joins Fight Against New Water District

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

The Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers' Association announced that it is assisting a group of Carmel Valley residents in mounting a "majority protest" to the establishment of the proposed Carmel Valley Flood Control Zone and an assessment on each of over 8000 parcels of property.

"This proposed assessment would be placed on every parcel of property in the Carmel River Water Shed, without a vote of the people who would have to pay this assessment", said Ron Pasquinelli, President of the Association. "This is nothing more than the big brother government of which the people are sick and tired."

We believe it should be put to a vote but the County rules require a large number of voters and land owners to protest in writing with a great deal of information. So we are providing everyone in the Valley with a postcard that has all the information required and all they have to do is sign it, and mail it back to us. The team will then tally the signatures and turn them in to the appropriate agency.

In one day, over 50 residents from the Del Mesa Carmel prepared 4000 protest forms for mailing. Almost 10,000 protest forms will be mailed, one to each property owner.

Community Hospital. You gave her name. Any news value this sad event might have had is far outweighed by the humiliation and embarrassment this woman and her family must have felt at reading her name in your paper.

You have published the names of people involved in no more than family squabbles where deputies have been called. It is not hard to envision a genuine victim of domestic violence, knowing of your policy, not calling the sheriff rather than reading her story later in the Sun. Other people, hearing a suspicious noise or smelling a strange odor, may be reluctant to seem a fool the next week in your paper and forego calling authorities. Fear of retaliation might prevent a person from lodging an otherwise valid complaint. The list goes on and on.

What your Sheriff's Log has become is a cheap and unseemly gossip column complete with the names of our families and friends.

Texas Child Is Hunting For Postcards

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

My name is James Nelson. I am 5 years old and I am a beginning postcard collector. I am hoping that I can get help from your readers. There are a lot of areas I don't have postcards from. I am asking that maybe one of your readers might take the time to drop me a postcard or so from their area. I have two maps that I mark them on and box them in one of several categories. It doesn't matter what kind, I like them all.

Thank you for your time.

New Water Assessment Is More Bureaucracy

Editor, Carmel Valley Sun:

The creation of a new Assessment District by the Monterey County Water Resources agency is just another layer of bureaucracy and new money for projects already handled by other agencies.

The Soil Conservation Service (SCS), the Water Management District and Monterey County Flood Control have all of the matters this is addressing as their responsibilities. The Water Management District budgeted money for alert systems, flood control (erosion control), river channel maintenance, etc.

If 25% of the voters in this assessment district protest this zone, new amounts of wasted money will not be created. I am tired of paying for the same thing over and over again.

Mail your protest vote to Monterey County Water Resources Agency, c/o Assessments, P.O. Box 930, Salinas, Ca. 93902. Call 755-4860 to get a copy of this public notice.

COMPUTER TALK

Val Healey

Part 15 - An introduction to computers at a naively simple level.

In the last part we had the exercise: what would the following Do Loop do?

Do 1 I = 1 to 1000

If SALES (I) > T and SALES (I) < 2 x T, SALARY (i) = SALARY (I) x 1.25

1 If SALES (I) > 2 x T, SALARY (I) = SALARY (I) x 1.5

where the xs all denote multiplications.

With T=3000, 2 x T=6000 and the Loop gives employees whose sales figure is between $3000 and $6000 a 25% bonus and those whose sales were greater than $6000 a 50% bonus. Just as in the simpler case, the Do Loop carries out all statements from the line with Do ... to, and including, the line with the label 1 i.e. the two lines under the Do statement. To see this, take an example: suppose for some particular employee, i.e. some value of I, the sales figure is $7000, then the first If line will do nothing to SALARY (I) since the answer to the If is false (not yes). The sales figure does not lie between $3000 and $6000 and no action is taken. Then the next line is executed for this same value of I. In the second

These examples are, of course, just academic exercises. Another exercise would be to compute the salaries if the bonus were directly proportional to the sales figure ... and obviously, endless other exercises are also possible.

It is very unlikely that anyone would need to write simple computer programs like the ones discussed

If statement the SALARY (I)=7000 is greater than $6000 and the SALARY (I) will be multiplied by 1.5, i.e. this employee will get the 50% bonus.

The above few examples were kept as simple as possible and some alert reader may have noticed that there would be a problem if the sales figure were exactly $6000 for some particular employee. If the equations are examined closely for this figure it will be seen that no bonus is awarded at all. This kind of situation could be accommodated by using "greater than or equal to", instead of just "greater than" in the third line so that an employee with exactly $6000 in sales would get the 50% bonus.

here. Far more sophisticated programs called spreadsheets are used for this work nowadays - but the calculation process is just the same as described. It is all done in the background without giving any idea of what is happening. Such programs are apps that are essentially word processors, calculators, graphical apps all rolled into one. Information such as salaries, bonuses, sales figures, invoices paid, taxes paid or due, etc., etc. may be accessed with a click of the mouse. With a few more clicks the information can be displayed in tabular or various graphical forms, like line graphs, histograms, pie charts, etc. This is but one example of the software that has wrought the kind of computer revolution we have witnessed over the past fifteen or so years and which is now approaching avalanche proportions.

In the next part we will take a short ride on a hobby horse and then we will return to the nuts 'n bolts of computers - drives.

VALLEY FINANCE

Douglas Pease

Janus was the two-faced god, one face turned toward the past, the other looking towards the future. An apt name for the first month of our calendar year. An apt symbol for those of us in our middle years. I just finished a conversation with a colleague who refuses to give up his 3 x 5 index card system and use a computer instead. No interest in the future growth of his business. None. Trapped in an analog brain. A younger colleague entered the profession just last year and uses a laptop computer at every presentation, with amazing sales success. No interest in the history of his profession. None. Doomed to a digital limbo.

I met a 50 year old communications engineer who uses the most advanced technology he can find for his work as a sports telecaster, but until last week he had given no thought to what he might be doing in his old age. Last week he got Janus vision ... maybe it was a result of his accountant's urgent pleas to establish a retirement account. Now the engineer has a clearer picture of where he is on the continuum of his life. I think what he does for the rest of his working years will be deeply affected by his new perceptions, and he will evolve.

Every now and then a skillfully run business comes into view, and invariably its managers turned around one day and saw that what they had been doing was not going to produce the same results next year ... or any other year. You can actually see the month the company acquired Janus vision, right on the price/volume graph for its stock. One particular company made garden hoses; now it makes shrinkwrap hand grips for surgical instruments and computer manufacturing hand tools. Same company, same processes, different vision. It will evolve.

As I watch the market news from day to day I sense an air of anxiousness; things aren't happening the way they used to, so something must be wrong. There will be a correction, then everything will be right again. The facts that unemployment is down and both production and capacity are at all time highs are not registering on the Dow or S&P or NASDAQ averages. Or when they do register, commentators talk about "correction". Consider a company that discovers new oil reserves in a Borneo jungle; the engineer flips open his cellular phone and tells his home office in Dallas they've got a good one. Helicopters bring in the equipment, computers keep score for everyone involved, and pipeline crews begin working inland from the beach as drilling proceeds in the jungle. There is no need for telephone poles, or even a road. Consider a company that makes it easy to enter and travel on the information highway. The company has been in existence 16 months and its Internet address now averages 75 million "hits" a day. Imagine a company with 75 million phone calls a day. The distance between past and future methods is so huge, in such instances, as to be beyond our comprehension. No chance for Janus vision, so we feel anxious.

What can we do about it? Stretch. Squint. Look in both directions. Find it. And evolve.

including saving $70,000 for a special election and instilling public confidence by letting the voters decide. Ed Lee said putting the initiative on the ballot would transfer power from the elected officials of the MPWMD to "a bunch of activists". Gary Tate, POWR committee member, said local government won't stop growth so citizens are taking power back from the government as evidenced by the Rancho San Carlos referendum petition drive and the

Protect the Resources Of The Entire County Today (PROTECT) initiative. Helen Rucker, Seaside council member, said the MPWMD should not make an exception and thought the POWR initiative was an attempt to shut out the "under-developed areas" like Seaside from achieving the economic status of other parts of the county.

The MPWMD could not take action on the POWR initiative at this meeting because it was not on the agenda as an action item however the MPWMD would not put it on next months agenda for consideration.

CARP

Cal-Am Rate Payers (CARP), initiated by former MPWMD Board member Pat Bernardi and former MPWMD Chair Fran Farina, asked the board, through their attorney Jane Haines, to make a decision on its requests. CARP is asking the MPWMD to prepare a rationing plan, institute a moratorium on new water connections and water use intensification and rescind Ordinances 74 and 75 which allow water reinvestment credits. In April Haines asked the MPWMD to put this issue on its May agenda but the request was ignored.

Haines reminded the MPWMD that Cal-Am has only an interim right to 10,730 acre feet of water pumped from the Carmel River and that this right expires in October of 1997. Haines said that every service connection that is added between now and November 1997, when the interim right expires, will add incrementally to the minimum 47% cut back and that is why CARP is asking for a moratorium on new water connections and water intensification. Haines said that Farina and Bernardi are not asking the MPWMD to implement a water rationing program at this time but to begin the planning process to work out the details.

CARP's goal is to get relief for the Carmel River. SWRCB Order 95-10 ruled that the 10,730 acre feet that Cal-Am has been illegally diverting has caused environmental damage to the river which is why they are requiring that an alternate source for that water be developed. Bernardi and Farina are approaching the MPWMD for the administrative record because it has jurisdiction however they are also pursuing action through the SWRCB, State Department of Health and the Public Utilities Commission.

Haines said "You may decide to say no, but what we are asking you to do is to make a decision."

Director Karas said that because the matter was being brought to the MPWMD by two former directors it should, "as a courtesy", put the item on next months agenda. The MPWMD Board agreed and it will make a decision whether to adopt any or all of CARP's requests at its July meeting.

Supervisors has announced its intent to approve the Zone and to successfully protest, 25% of the registered voters who voted in the last election must protest by mail to have the Supervisors drop the Zone or put it to a public vote.

Pete Salmonsens reported that Carmel Valley Ranch has reduced its proposed single family dwelling units from 64 to 61 and that building permits have been issued. Eileen Crane-Franks said that the Planning Commission has continued ruling on the Carmel Valley Ranch proposal until July 31. The 61 single family homes are to be sold to individuals but rented out as hotel overflow if the owner agrees. Crane-Franks said the Ranch is trying to circumvent zoning the area as 'short term rental' which would necessitate notifying nearby property owners. Crane-Franks said that the property owners she had spoken to at the Ranch had not been informed that 61 homes had been proposed as hotel overflow units.

Jerry Clark resigned as CVPOA Treasurer earlier this year in anticipation of a move to Nebraska however, he will remain in Carmel Valley and continue as a CVPOA Board member. Eileen Crane Franks, who had been elected to serve the remainder of Clarks term, will stay on as Treasurer in addition to her position as Coordinator.

The CVPOA Annual Picnic will be held on September 15 at the Carmel Valley Park.

The next CVPOA meeting will be held at 7:30 pm on July 10, at the Mid Valley Fire Department; the meeting is open to the public.
